MENT OF THE TERRITORIES. Stirring Recttal of the Indignities Con-Stirring Rection of the integration Con-gress Has Beaped Upon Them-Sunset Cox Advocates Admitting All the Terri-tories Named in the "Omnibus Bill," WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The House spent the day in the consideration of the bill for the admission of South Dakota. It is a continous special order, with a provision that it shall not antagonize appropriation bills. The special order allows the substitution of what is known as the "Omnibus Bill." The latter is a meas ure providing for the admission into the Union of the Territories of South Dakota, Montana, Washington, Idaho, and New Mexico. The House considered the bill as in Committee of the Whole. A long and tiresome debate is sure to follow. To-day, however, evolved two brilliant speeches. One came from Sunset Cox. and the other from the Hon. Joseph Kent Toole, delegate from Montana, The latter, though delivered to a small audience, was as stirring a speech as was ever heard upon the

When the blind Chaplain raised his hands this morning Prospective Speaker Burrows and Prospective Speaker Farquhar stood in an smoking fragrant cigars. Mr. Farqubar tossed his weed away and marched to a side aisie, where he heard the prayer with bowed head. As the Chaplain said "Almighty God" Tom Reed cozed from a cloak room and stationed himself at the entrance of an aisle overlooking the Hon. William Warner of Kansas City. Mr. Warner was engaged in secular work, and Mr. Reed gently chided him because he continued it during the prayer. Appearances indicate that Joseph G. Cannon has lost all interest in the contest for Speaker. While the petition of the Chaplain was ascending to the Throne of Grace be sat in his seat reading a foolscan letter. Before the end of the prayer he holsted his leg to his desk and kept it there until the prayer was concluded.

The minutes were read and a batch of Senate bills referred to the various committees. Seven members stood in the arena holding documents loft awaiting recognition. Through the courtesy of Mr. Springer, who had the right to call up the Territorial bill immediately after the reading of the minutes, Gen. Spinola was recognized. He slapped through the bill appro-priating $60,000 for a new lightship at Sandy

And the standard of the control has a standard of the control has is the Constitution adopted by the South Dakota Territorial Convention. He didn't like the idea of women being eligible to the Judgebarred from becoming Governors and members of the Legislature. There was also some thing about a prohibition clause in the Constitution that was unsatisfactory. He used an hour in pounding dry facts out of the bill, but did not touch the point touched in the Democratic caucus some weeks ago. That point was representative political preponderance.

After Mr. Springer sat down Sunset Cox arose. He was in elegant condition. His speech was carefully prepared. It lay in manuscript upon a pile of books before him. The galleries were crowded, and all listened with intense interest. The speech was perfumed with pinks of oratory. It was strung with with pinks of oratory. It was strung with wittleisms and it emitted a glow of patriotic fervor. Mr. Cox advocated the admission of south Dakots and of all the Territories named in the Omnibus substitute. The speech, however, was hardly satisfactory to some of the Democrats, for he went further than this. He wittually told the Hepublicans that if they would not agree to the Democratic proposition, he would agree to theirs. His wife sat in the gallery listening to his pictures que coration. The seats near him were filled and the aisles and areas studded with distinguished statesmen. All the Territorial-delegates were there. Mr. Toote of Montana sat directly in front of him. seata near him were filled and the states and areas studded with distinguished statesmen. All the Territorial-delegates were there. Mr. Toole of Montana sat directly in front of him. Toole is a magnificent specimen of manhood, sifted with the purest eloquence. He made a speech in the Democratic caucus not long sago that touched the gizzards of the oldest members of the control o the galleries were deserted, and no reporters were present. Half the members had left the House, the others were telling stories, anwering letters, or lolling upon the sofas enjoying cigara. There was no premonition of what was coming. Mr. Toole is constructed very much like Waldo Hutchins. He is about thirty years younger than Waldo Hutchins, and even better looking. He began his speech by reading a memorial from citizens of Montana. The confusion was so great that nobody within forty feet of him had any idea what he was saying. The Speaker pro tem, was whispering to a visitor, and the House literally ran riot. Within five minutes, however, two or three men near Mr. Tools awoke to the fact that something unusual was occurring. One member after another opened his mouth in astonishment, and finally there was an outburst of applause. At last universal attention was concentrated upon him. Members in the corridors on their way to their homes beard the applause and returned to the chamber with their hats and overcoats. The hall became so still that you could have almost heard a thistle down roll along the main aidle. Mr. Toole has a full, rich voice that echoed like vibrations from a beli.

Mr. Toole next told what Congress had done for the Territory of Montana. It sounded like a new declaration of independence. He said:

"It has given us a system of courts inherently wrong, and which can never be made sultable to large communities.

"It has regulated the number of our Judges, grossly inndequate in every instance, resulting in the delay and in many cases the denial of justice. It has arbitrarily fixed the time when our local Legislature without the consent of the President, adding untold burdens to a dependent people. It has reserved the right to invalidate any law which our Legislature may pass, thereby destroying that full faith and credit which our Legislature ought to command.

"It has bound us hand and foot by a law which restricts these growing and ambitious

"It has professed to give us a Representative in the lower House of Congress, but deales to us a vote, the only element of representation which gives character or influence to a member.

"It has left us without any kind of representation in the Senate, and remits us to the beggarly methods of the lobbyist.

persence among us is and ever will be as polpersence among us is and ever will be as polpersence among us is and ever will be as polpersence among us is and ever will be as polpersence among us is that the wise men ast the insideous growth of communism."

After having made this terrible arraigmment of Congress, Mr. Toole continued as follows:

"Tradition informs us that the wise men all came from the East, and so our Republican friends, unwilling to depart from the teachings of the past, determined that history should repeat itself, and proceeded to treat us in their own good time to a fine assortment of political dudes. Some of these hothouse specimens, who were too frail to stand transplanting to a Northern clime, soon gave up their commissions and returned to the genial influences of their own civilization. Others, holding religiously to the doctriab that, a Federal officer should neither die nor resign, stayed with us, became acclimated, and promise in vears to come to develop into tolerably good and useful citizens. But, under Democratic supremacy, we find that quite an invasion has been made upon what was supposed to be inflexible fact. Instead of the wise men coming from the East, we now learn that they came from the South. Kentucky furnished us a Governor. Tennessee a Chief Justice, Louislana an Associate Justice and a Surveyor-General.
Texas an Associate Justice, and Mississioni.
Maryland, and Tennessee each an Indian Agent. Be it far from me of the top this Administration whence he came. These consociates of the consequent upon these alien and the same of the lack of confidence thereby manifested in us, constitute the gravamen of the affront. Time, instead of healing, simply intensiles it. Nearly every day added to the score of time brings some new appointment from abroad, thus adding insult to injury.
Ages of forgiveness cannot condone it, and Statchood alone can prevent its recurrence.

"We had hoped for better things from this Administration. The giorious aspirations

"Take off the handicap," Mr. Toole shouted, throwing his right arm toward the galleries. Start us under as favorable circumstances as other States at the time of their admission, and if the race is not always to the swift we will promise not to be last at the finish."

He then instanced the case of Ireland, and made an eloquent appeal for home rule. He told of the trials and sufferiegs of the first settlers in Montana, and begged the House to listen to the voice of justice and consenguinity. "I make this appeal," he said, "to gratify no personal ambition, I am commissioned to do so in the name of Montana, a Territory whose valleys of gold and mountains of silver have never ceased to swell the volume of statistical information, giving cogent reasons why that Territory should be admitted as a State.

When Mr. Toole resumed his seat a score of members rushed up the aisle and heartily congratulated him. The burz of excitement had hardly subsided when Signor Antonio Joseph of Ojo Callente took the floor. He and Marcus Aurelius Smith are the only Democratz reelected to the Fifty-first Congress from the Territories. He began his speech with a tribute to the Spanish adventurers of the four-teenth century who laid bare the riches of America, but had not spoken more than two minutes before the House adjourned.

Partisan Tilts Over the Tartif Bill in th

Senate-Evarts as an Acrobat. WASHINGTON, Jan. 15 .- As the debate on the Tariff bill narrows to a close in the Senate the Democrats and Republicans begin to make ugly remarks to each other, and partisanship crops out to such an extent the question at issue is often lost sight of. The discussion was particularly lively and ill-natured to-day. Senator Teller commenced to make things go wrong at the start by complaining that his colleagues kept up such an incessant noise Senator Dolph, who was in the chair, solemnly and with every appearance of seriousness gave notice that he should strictly enforce the rule of compelling each Senator not to interrupt but first to address the Chair and secure permis-sion to speak. Five minutes after Mr. Dolph had pompously made this announcement a dozen Senators had broken the rule without a word of rebuke. Senator Frye growled because the Record made him say that only four iron ships had ever been constructed in this country. when what he did say was four hundred.

The proposition to put salt on the free list oc cupied the entire day, Hiscock, Palmer, Telcupied the entire day. Hissock, Paimer, Teller, Dawes, and half a dozen other Republicans opposed it in combative style, and Vest, Regan, and Butler were the principal speakers on the Democratic side. Senator Butler got his blood up to-day and made a most impassioned attack upon the Republicans for their greed and insincerity, and pointed to the fact that they had raised the duty on cotton ties which the Southern man cupys and lowered it on articles which he sells. Butler was very bitter in his speech and had half a dozen Republicans replying to him at one time. He and Toller had a personal spat, in which the Senator from South Carolina plainly told the Senator from Colorado to mind his own business.

Vest was more elecuent, sarcastic, and effective than usual. He repudlated the alleged assumption of Messrs. Aldrich, Allison, and Hiscock that they constituted the brains of the Senate, particularly on the subject of the tariff, but, with mock seriousness, humbly prayed that some day he might reach the sublime height of knowledge possessed by those men. He rebuked them for professing to be the only correct authorities on tariff subjects, and said that there were men outside the Senate fully as well posted on the tariff subjects, and said that there were men outside the Senate fully as well posted on the tariff subjects, and said that there were men outside the Senate fully as well posted on the tariff subjects, and said that there were men outside the Senate fully as well posted on the tariff subjects, and said that there were men outside the Senate fully as well posted on the tariff subjects, and said that there were men outside the Senate fully as well posted on the tariff subjects, and said that there were men outside the Senate fully as well posted on the tariff subjects, and said that there were men outside the Senate fully as well posted on the tariff subjects. ler, Dawes, and half a dozen other Republicans caucus was held at noon to-day. It was ex-ceedingly lively and it lasted two hours. The bject was to set the time for the United States Senatorial caucus. The time set was next Monday night, but it is doubtful whether the caucus will be held then.

Gov. Green renominated Manning M. Knapp of Hudson county for Justice of the Supreme Court, and his appointment was confirmed at once by a unanimous yote.

The Typothetæ Society, composed of the master printers and publishers of this city, will celebrate the 183d anniversary of the birthday of Benjamin Franklin by a banquet next Thursday evening at the Hotel Brunswick. The teast eards and bill of fare will contain many novel features illustrative of the life of Franklin. These are to be the toasts and the speakers: Gen. Thomas Ewing. "Franklin, Wager Swayne, "The Colouial Printer: "Will Carloton. "The Literary Man;" Gen. Henry L. Burnett." Franklin, the Diplomatist and the Patriot; "A.D. F. Randlohl. "The Publisher;" Rossiter Johnson. "The Farly Printer;" Joe Howard, Jr.. "The Journalist;" R. K. Donnelly, "The United Typotheta."

Among the members of the society are D. Appieton & Co. Harper Brothers. J. J. Little, Howard Lockwood, Frank D. Harmon, Martin H. Brown, W. C. Martin, and Douglas Taylor.

Among the pictures will be a kite in representation of the one which was used by Franklin in the electrical experiments which he made in the year; 1752 from the tower of the Old Dutch Church, which stood on the corner of Nassau and Liberty streets. It was from the belify of this church that Franklin proved the identity of lightning and electricity. There is also to be an outline of a monument in his memory, which will be unwelled next Thursday in Washington. Among the novelties that will be on exhibition in the dining hall will be a Franklin press, which was made long before the American Revolution. It is procosed to have this press in operation during the evening. The ink at that time was distributed over the type by means of wool and sheapskin balls, which looked like boxing gloves. This press was carried in the procession which celebrated the laying of the first Atlantic cable.

Good Boxing at Jockey Charley Canler Benefit Last Night, LATEST NEWS OF THE BASE BALL AND The testimonial boxing exhibition for th benefit of Jockey Charley Ossler, whose left leg was broken at the Guttenburg race track. took place last night in Hudson Hall, Hoboker The amount realized by the exhibition was above $400. The first bout was between Young Clark of this city and Frank Cook, late of the 'Ingate 'Arriers and "ex-amateur feather weight champion of London." Clark has a great trick of turning suddenly on his opponent and hitting him back handed, and it was sometime before Cook understood it. Honors were pretty even between them.

Cal McCarthy, the bantam-weight champion of the world, and his old antagonist, Jack Cary, came next, and they soarred three beautiful rounds. Cary made a great showing in the first two rounds, but McCarthy, who is in training for young Waiton of Philadelphia, was in splendid trim, and more than evened up in the wind, and wind,

The hottiest bout of the evening was between a tall, long-necked, lean, and angular youth named William Curry and Jake Edler, who owns Johnny E. and several other short-track runners. Edler is a good one, and he gave Curry a terrible thumping in the first round. Then Curry pulled his shoes off, and Edler had his own gloves substituted for those furnished by the house. The new mitts were of maroon, morocco, and were the dandlest pair seen by the boys for many a night. Curry did better in his stocking feet than he did with his moccasins on, but he was no match for Edler, who had him nearly groggy when the bout was Austin Gibbons of Paterson and his brother Jem gave a splendid exhibition, and they were followed by Con Dugan, who wants to fight any 122-pound man in the world, and Jack Delancey. They smashed away at each other without much regard to consequences, and the house rang with applause when they doffed their gloves. Delancey's hand had not recovered from the effects of his last fight, which took place about a week ago, and Dugan had a shade the better of the go.

Pat Cahill, the amateur middle-weight champlon of America, and Ed Tuttle of the Scotch-American Club made a splendid bout. Cahill would make it lively for almost any of the professional boxers of his weight, Dolly Parker and Jack Fernandez of Brooklyn iknocked each other about the ring as though punishing didn't hurt and pain was an imaginary feeling. They were followed by Mike Shay of New York and Jack Lyman of Boaton, and several others.

The wind-up was between the celebrated Mike Cushing and Dan O'Hara, and it was as good as a glove fight.

BOWLING MEN.

President Byrne is Ready to Arrange a Spring Series of Cames with the New York Club-The Texas League-Cossip. President Byrne of the Brooklyn Club called at President Day's office yestarday, but as Mr. Day is still ill Mr. Byrne did not see him. He left word, however, that he would meet the President or manager of the New York Club at any time or place. Mr. Byrne has started in with a will, and he means business, and if there is any backing out to be done it will not be on his side. Mr. Day was called up on the telephone. He said that he would try to meet Mr. Byrne te-morrow, if he was well enough to come down town. Manager Mutrie was not to be seen. Mr. Byrne still refused to talk upon the subject until he had seen Mr. Day. All of the Brooklyn Club directors insist that their club must play the New Yorks if the champions can be induced to play at all. It is the general opinion that two games should be played in toams in that part of the country.

There has been some talk regarding the team which the New Yorks will put in against the Brooklyns in case the two clubs come together. The New Yorks would not be able to present their strongest team. Only yesterday several sporting men up town wanted to make even bets that neither Recte nor Ewing would play in the series. It is not plain what objections Ewing could have to assisting the New Yorks to win these games. Of course he has not that local pride shown by resident base ball enthusiasts; still he has been used well in this city, and should be one of the first to come forward and do all in his power to help the team out. Nevertheless, there need not be any doubt about his being here when the time comes. As for keefe, even if the little matter between him and Mr. Day is arranged, but little can be expected of our great pitcher during the early days of spring. The New York players will not lose anything by taking part in a spring series with the Brooklyn Club. In case the club wins, a certain sharefor the gate receipts will go to the players.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 15.—The Cleveland Club to-day signed Pitcher Charles Sprague of last season's Chicago Marcons. The signing was done to bring Sprague's case before the Board of Arbitration. He was reserved by the Chi-cago Marcons of 1888, and transferred with the franchise to Minneapolis. This transfer, the best authorities say, released him from reser-vation. Minneapolis claims that it did not. The Board of Arbitration will decide between the clubs.

Byracuse, Jan. 15.—The extension of time granted to the Hamilton Base Ball Club to make their deposit of $1,200 with the Secretary of the International Base Ball Association expired to-day. Hamilton has not deposited the money, and President Miller has gone to New York to consult with Manager Chapman about the admission of Newark and Jersey City, both of which are represented to have been playing smart, and holding out Inducements that they might join almost any of the minor leagues.

Waco, Tex., Jan. 15—Mr. I. Newburg. President of the Texas Base Ball Iceague, states that the telegraph despatch from Dallas in the Texas press, to the effect that the Houston, Galveston, and Dallas Clubs had made arrangements to join the Southern Base Ball League, is not well founded. He says Houston and Galveston are entirely committed to the Texas League and working in its interests, and will be represented at the meeting of the League in Austin next Tuesday, at which time all the arrangements for the coming season will be perfected. He is in receipt of late advices from the various clubs, and says the League has never been in a more flourishing condition, and he feels assured that the coming base ball season in Texas will be an unqualified success. The management of the Waco Club is busily engaged enlarging and improving the base ball park and making other proparations adequate. Hundreds of applications from first-class players have been received and are now being passed upon, and the stock in the Waco Club has nearly all been taken.

Jack Glasscock is in favor of the Indianapolis Club opening the season at home with the Clevelands. He says that by winning the first games the club would start out confident in its ability to hold its own with the best of them.

Manager Leadley of the Detroit Club presents this point anent the new salary limit in his League: "Suppose a couple of players have to lay off on account of injuries, as often happens. Their pay is not stopped and the club is compelled to got new men to supply their places. This could not be done without a violation of the rule."

Last Saturday week Jim Whitney pitched one in so lot-time games against the G. and M. team of Oakland. Cal. Neither side scored until the tenth inning, when Whitney made the only un of the game on an error and a two-baser by Denny. But four hits were made off his delivery, and so well did Mack handle him that but one of the opposing team reached second. Cushman, the old Metropolitan pitcher, says he may go with Boston next season. He was at one time a conductor on the Lake Shore and lost his situation for some trifling error. He secured an engagement as change pitcher for the Buffalo nine at a salary of $1,900 a year. He gave satisfaction, and the next season signed with the Metropolitans for $2,300 a year. Umpire Gaffney is quoted as having written signed with the Metropolitans for $2.300 a year. Umpire Gaffney is quoted as having written to a Cincinnati friend: "I have not signed for next season, nor do I intend to do so until I get my price. Every one of the American Association people acknowledge that I did fine work last season, and with my record in from of them I do not see why they should want me to lower my figures for next season." There is likely to be room on the League staff for Gaffney before the season is a month old.

President Day, the Chairman of the Schedule Gallney before the season is a month old.

President Day, the Chairman of the Schedule Committee has not yet written to Mr. Hewitt in retard to the schedule meeting. Washington has got a schedule meeting. Washington has got a schedule all made out, but it is locked in the big iron safe, and is jeniously guarded. The President and Secretary of the club are the only ones who have seen it, and the newspaper man who inquires about it is given a cold buff that would make the fortune of its possessor in a game of poker.—Washington Post.

a cold built that would make the fortune of its possessor in a game of poker.—Washington Post.

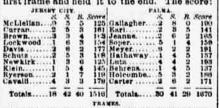

Paul Hines enjoys the distinction of being parlians the only player to complete a triple play unassisted in a professional game. While with Providence, in a game with floston, Hines was in centre. Boston had men on second and third, with no one out. A short fly was hit over the short stop's head, which looked safe, so safe that the Roston base runners made for home. Hines rushed in and made a phenomenal catch. Paul then rushed to third, which but the man out who had left for home. The fellow who had left second was also beyond third, so Paul rushed down and touched him.—Pattsburgh Utronicle.

Mannager Ted Sullivan of the Washington Club is reported to have signed as catcher Ebright, the San Francisco player. If this report is true, the Washington Club will probably experience considerable difficulty in playing this man. That player signed in 1858 with the Lynn Club of the New England League, and subsequently repudiated his contract. All efforts by the Lynn Club to induce him to fulfil his contract proving ineffective, his case was presented to the Board of Arbitration, and he was disqualified from playing with any club that is a party to the national agreement, and in that position he stands.—Boston Heradd.

There is a break in the stone wall the national agreement has built around the national agreement bas built around the national game which should be repaired at once. The California League last season employed three ineligible players—J. J. Smith. Ebright, and Whitehead—and is likely to become a refuge for ineligible players—J. J. Smith, Ebright, and Whitehead—and is likely to become a refuge for more of that lik next seasop. Close upon the announcement that the Newarz Club's reserved pitcher. Norman Baker, has signed with the Sacramento Club comes the news that Third Baseman Alvord, reserved by Des Moines, has also signed with that club, and that other Des Moines reserved players contemplate doing the same thing. The California League surely needs looking after. It is a prosperous institution, pays good salaries, and is apparently permanently established. Under the circumstances, no strong efforts should be spared to make the League an aliginstead of a menace to national agreement interests.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Bowitng. Never before was there so great a crowd at the alleys of the Palma Club in Jersey City to see a bowling game as that which gathered there last night to see a game in the amateur league series between the Jersey City and Palma Clubs. Both sides had out their strongest teams. The rivalry is intense, and during the earlier part of the contest there was a continuous shower of friendly shots between the tinuous shower of friendly shots between the friends of these two teams. Had the Jersey City team won, it would have made them a tie with three other clubs for second place. The Palma men were too strong for them, however, and it did not take long for them to show it either, for they took the lead in the first frame and held it to the end. The score:

Mr. Wakely said that immediately upon the receipt of the communication from Dempsey be had set out in search of Mr. Mitchell, but he had set out in search of Mr. Mitchell, but had not been able to find him. He said among other things:

"Jack must be anxious to meet Mitchell, because when I got up this morning I found both the letter and a telegram awaiting me. He had sent the telegram, fearing that his letter had miscarried. I will back Dempsey to fight Mitchell in the same ring with Sullivan and Kilrain for $5,000 a side, the men to bastle under the same rules and the same referee to officiate. I will make another effort to meet Mitchell to-morrow morning in order that he can read this letter from Dempsey."

Mitchell sails to-day in the Britannic for ome. He told a knot of admirers in the Hoffman House last evening that he would come back in the spring. The idea that his not altogether expected departure might be taken by some as an evidence that he was running away from somebody or something was suggested as possible. Thereupon he drew up and signed a proclamation, of which the following are verbatim extracts. After referring to his standoff with Sullivan. Mitchell says:

Arthur Lumley laughed when he read the statement made by Mitchell that Sullivan was in financial straits. "You can say that Sullivan is in receipt of a handsome salary as sporting editor of the Illustrated News, and any such yarn as this about his being broke is rot, pure and simple."

Kilrain Says that Sullivan is Overestimated. BALTIMORE, Jan. 15 .- Jake Kilrain, at his home in this city to-day, said that he supposed the reason the friends of Sullivan want so much time before settling arrangements for the coming fight with himself, was that they wished to travel around with their man to make money, but that when the time approached for the fight, they may find some way of sneaking out Kitrain expressed the opinion that Sullivan was an overestimated man, but if he should go into training in May, as he says he will be could be in as good condition next July, when the fight is to come off, as he ever was; that he has not been drinking much of late, and his arm is just as good as ever.

Do You Suffer

From rheumatism? If so, read the following "voluntary tribute" from a reliable, senscientious man which appeared in the Geneva, N. Y., Gazette, entirely unknown to us till after its publication:

"Without doubt a large proportion of those who have passed the meridian of life suffer more or less from rheumatism. Up to three winters ago I had never known what sickness or pain was: but during the fall and winter of 1684 I had a slight attack of rheumatism, which, however, passed off toward spring, but the following winter it reappeared with greater sewerity. I thought I would try Hood's Sarasparilla. I took three bottles in all, and I am pleased to say the rheumatic pains ceased, my appetite and digestion became better, and my general health greatly improved. I am firmly convinced that Hood's Sarasparilla effected a cure is my case."—WM. SCOON, Geneva, N. Y.
